The Great Book Swap

This year we are going to recognise NAIDOC WEEK by holding a book swap to raise funds for literacy resources for kids in remote Indigenous communities.

From now until Thursday June 30th you can bring to the library the books (in good condition) that you have loved reading but no longer want to keep. It should be a book that you know other children would enjoy. Your parents can send theirs in too!

On Thursday June 30th you can bring a gold coin donation and choose a book to take home from those that have been donated.

We will have the parent book swap before school and the children at recess and lunchtime.

You can read more about the Indigenous Literacy Foundation at www.indigenousliteracyfoundation.org.au